Masters Defeats Abel's Bid By Using Rule Of Eleven

Before Mr. Masters played to the first trick, he was practically certain that Mr. Abel had the ace of hearts-and no other heart higher than the five spot. Magic? Not at all. Merely another example of the wonderful usefulness of the rule of eleven.

the rule of eleven would apply. Deducting the number of the card led from 11, Mr. Masters determined there were six hearts higher than the five spot outside of Mr. Dale's hand. He could see five of these in his own hand and dummy. That left Mr. Abel with one. Which one?

LOGICAL INFERENCES

He made several logical inferences. His partner was a sound player who seldom underleads an ace from a long suit, against a suit contract. Then there was the fact that Mr. Abel had opened the bidding and made two additional bids while Mr. Dale had passed throughout the auction. There-
